I've had the pleasure of collaborating with Vítor Tavares in the context of higher education, and I can confidently say he is a highly creative and strategically minded professional. With a remarkable academic and professional background, Vítor has been teaching since 2009 in areas such as typography, branding, design thinking, multimedia, and generative AI.

He brings an innovative, practical approach to the classroom and stays consistently updated on new pedagogical and technological methodologies. Vítor is an inspiring colleague, deeply committed to educational and design innovation, with a strong interdisciplinary perspective.

I highly recommend him for any role that combines creativity, higher education, and design-driven innovation.
